

Abstract

Use of a crosslinked polymer composition as a water-absorbing component in sealing and absorption materials

5

The invention relates to the use of a crosslinked polymer composition which comprises at least one polymer based on nonionic hydrophilic acrylates and/or methacrylates as a water-absorbing component in concrete or sealing and 10 absorption materials.